Critical Incident Planning

Thanks to Rich Bertrang, I was given a heads up on a day long seminar on Private / Public Partnerships in Critical Incident Planning.

Now, like most of us, I have heard all the buzz words like NIMS, and ICS and Unified Command Structures and the like (thanks Rich Woldt). It wasn't until this day though that some of it starting getting thru my thick skull.

Three things really stood out:

- 1) It is very important that security pros, and really all business people, understand the concepts behind the ICS (Incident Command System).
- 2) Partnering between the Public and Private sectors is very important – and not here in Dane County yet.

Chairman's Message

By: Shawn Smith

Hello everyone,

Once again Chapter 067 is trying something new and interesting. As you can see from our program for this month, Curt has once again come up with an interesting program reflecting the stated wishes of our membership. Curt tells me that in addition to our program, there will be representatives from the Wisconsin Attorney General's office in attendance as well (no, they are not doing an investigation). So make sure you mark your calendar, RSVP to Curt, and remember this is our lone evening event!

It looks like our chapter will be well represented at the Annual Seminar later this month in Las Vegas. We have at least seven chapter members that plan on attending. Congratulations to Kurt Feavel who earned the Chapter's free attendance – enjoy this opportunity Kurt, on us! We look forward to a report at a future meeting.

Now that summer is officially over, and we start planning our fall activities and start the 2008 planning process, it's not too early to start thinking how you can further contribute to your chapter's success next year. Each December we elect new Officers and look for Committee Chairs to further strengthen our chapter. If you think it is your turn to step up, please let me or any of the other current Officers know how you would like to contribute. It is the strength of our membership that ultimately provides the chapter benefits to our members. Like Uncle Sam, – "I Want You".

3) The losses incurred by (especially) small business that have not done any pre-planning will significantly affect the entire economy of our region.

This group will be doing at least one other meeting to follow up. There were at least 5 of our chapter members at this meeting, and I assume they will be doing the follow up.

While I don't know exactly how to attack the issues raised above, I know our Chapter should be involved in addressing these items.
